INFORMATION REGARDING YOUR RIGHT TO REQUEST REDEMPTION OF SHARES

Under Russian law, you may have the right to request that we redeem all or part of your shares of VimpelCom's voting stock. Below is an explanation of how your redemption rights may arise.

1. What triggers your right to request redemption of shares of voting stock (or ADSs)?

Under Russian law, you will be entitled to demand redemption of all or part of your shares of the Company's voting stock if Shareholders approve Item 8 (approval of reorganization of VimpelCom through the statutory merger of certain of its subsidiaries into VimpelCom and of the Merger Agreements) on the agenda of the AGM.

If you own voting stock on the record date for the AGM (i.e., April 30, 2008), you may exercise your right to demand redemption of all or part of your shares if you:

- do not participate in the AGM;
- participate in the AGM but do not participate in the voting on Item 8; or
- vote against Item 8 on the Agenda.

If you own shares of voting stock as of April 30, 2008, and then transfer all or part of your shares after the AGM but prior to the date of any redemption by us, then the shares that you transfer cannot be redeemed.

2. At what price will we redeem shares of common stock?

We will redeem shares of common stock in rubles at a price of 14,097.46 of RUR per share (equal to US$29.97 per ADS, based upon the exchange rate of the Central Bank of the Russian Federation on March 28, 2008) less any withholding tax as required by Russian law. Russian law requires our Board of Directors to include the redemption price in this notice and provides that the redemption price shall be defined by the Board of Directors as not less than the market value, which shall be determined by the independent appraiser, excluding transactions, stipulated in the Agenda to the AGM meeting.

As required by Russian law, an independent Russian licensed appraiser, Limited Liability Company "Ekonomiko-pravovaya Ekspertiza", determined that the redemption price indicated above is equal to the market value of the shares.

3. How many shares can we redeem?

Russian law provides that we may not pay an amount in excess of 10% of our net assets to redeem shares of voting stock. In accordance with Russian law, the book value of our net assets will be calculated on the date of the AGM in accordance with Russian accounting principles. As of December 31, 2007, 10% of our net assets (based on our fourth quarter internal financial statements prepared in accordance with Russian accounting principles) is 13,355,906,600 rubles which, based on the prevailing ruble/dollar exchange rate set by the Central Bank of the Russian Federation on that date, is approximately US$544,113,000. Accordingly, if the AGM were held today, Russian law would allow us to redeem only 947,398 shares of voting stock (equal to 18,947,960 ADSs) at the full redemption price.

If we receive requests to redeem more shares than we are permitted to redeem due to the above indicated restriction, Russian law requires us to redeem shares on a pro rata basis. In this case, we will not redeem fractional shares.

In accordance with Russian law, any shares that are redeemed by us shall be cancelled, if not later than 1 year as of the date of transferring ownership on redeemed shares to the Company, the latter would not have sold them at the value which is not less than the market value.

4. What is the procedure for redeeming shares of voting stock?

If you have the right to demand redemption, you may exercise your right by sending written notice within 45 calendar days of the AGM (provided that such notice is received by us no later than July 24, 2008, which is 45 calendar days after the Meeting) to the CEO and General Director of VimpelCom, located at 4, Krasnoproletarskaya Ulitsa, Moscow 127006, Russian Federation. Your notice to us should be sent by registered mail or by hand delivery and must include the following information:

- your name;
- your residence/location and your mailing address;
- the number of shares of voting stock requested to be redeemed; and
- your ruble bank account information for payment for redeemed shares.

Under Russian law the signature of a Shareholder who is an individual, as well as the signature of his/her legal representative in the Shareholder's request on redemption and revocation of the stipulated request, shall be certified by notary or by registrar.

Upon receipt by the Company of the request on redemption of the shares held by a Shareholder and before making an entry into the register of Shareholders of the Company on transfer to the Company of right of ownership to the redeemed shares or before the revocation by the Shareholder of his/her request on redemption of the shares, the Shareholder shall not have the right to enter into any transactions with third parties related to disposal or placing an encumbrance over the shares, which shall be registered by registrar by making an entry in the Shareholders register of the Company.

You can also revoke your request on redemption. Such revocation should be received by us within 45 calendar days of the AGM.

If you own ADSs, you may exercise your right to demand redemption by sending written notice by 5:00 pm (New York time) on July 18, 2008 to The Bank of New York. We recommend that you send your notice to The Bank of New York by registered or certified mail. Your notice to The Bank of New York must include the information indicated above. In addition to sending written notice to The Bank of New York, if you exercise your right to demand redemption, you should make arrangements to return all or a portion of your ADSs to The Bank of New York, whether held in certificated form, book entry or through DTC. If you have any questions about this procedure, you should contact your broker or call Sammy Peermal at the ADR department at The Bank of New York at +1 (954) 255-5137.

Upon receipt of notices from shareholders (and from The Bank of New York on behalf of holders of ADSs), we will inform you of the necessary steps to be taken in order to transfer your shares on the share register as required to effect the redemption.

5. *How are you paid for shares of voting stock which are redeemed?

In accordance with Russian law, we are required to purchase shares from shareholders who exercise their redemption rights within 30 days after the expiration of the 45-day exercise period (i.e., from July 25, 2008, through August 23, 2008).

For ADS holders, The Bank of New York will endeavor to convert the ruble redemption payments and transfer the U.S. dollar equivalent to the relevant ADS holders.

6. *Is there any withholding or other tax on the redemption payment?

If you are a Russian legal entity, the redemption payment is not subject to Russian withholding tax and we will transfer to you the full redemption price of shares, however, corporate profit tax will apply in this case.

If you are a foreign (non-Russian) legal entity without a registered presence in Russia, we will transfer the full redemption price of shares and will not be required to withhold any tax therefrom.

If you are a Russian individual and a tax resident for Russian tax purposes, you will need to file to the Russian tax authorities your Russian personal income tax return related to this transaction by April 30 of the year following the tax year. You may also deduct the amount of actually incurred and properly documented expenses for the purchase of the shares from the amount of your earned income. The margin between redemption proceeds and expenses on purchasing of the shares, will be taxed at the rate of 13%, and the tax should be paid by July 15 of the year following the tax year.

If you are an individual and Russian tax non-resident, however you are at the same time a tax resident of a foreign state, and there is an effective double tax treaty concluded between this state and the Russian Federation, then we will not withhold personal income tax from your proceeds from the sale of the shares in Russia only if you provide us with the document certifying your tax residence in such a foreign state. If you do not provide us with such a document or there is no effective double tax treaty concluded between the state of your tax residence and the Russian Federation, you will need to file to the Russian tax authorities your Russian personal income tax return, related to this transaction by April 30 of the year following the tax year. You may also deduct the amount of actually incurred and properly documented expenses for the purchase of the shares from the amount of your earned income. The margin between redemption proceeds and expenses on purchasing of the shares, will be taxed at the rate of 30%, and the tax should be paid by July 15 of the year following the tax year.

In addition, under your application we may act as a tax agent and withhold personal income tax from your income in accordance with the applicable tax rate, and transfer it to the budget of the Russian Federation. In such a case we are not able to decrease the amount of your income by any deductions related to such transaction – this is possible only in case of filing of your Russian personal income tax return. Please be aware, that personal income tax withholding, performed by the tax agent, should not theoretically release you from filing of your Russian personal income tax return.

This is not intended to be tax advice and we strongly recommend that you consult your independent tax advisor for specific details regarding withholding or other tax on your redemption payment.
